

Directions

on Microsoft

INDEPENDENT Analysis of Microsoft Technology & Strategy

2010 TeleBriefing Schedule >

This schedule summarizes upcoming TeleBriefings as of March, 9, 2010 and is subject to change at any time. TeleBriefings are phone based conferences that consist of a 20-minute presentation by a DIRECTIONS expert followed by a question-and-answer period. Briefing topics complement DIRECTIONS research and analysis. For more information, contact us at 425.739.4669 or info@DirectionsOnMicrosoft.com

Date	Topic	Description
Mar. 25, 2010	Exchange 2010 Licensing	Rob Horwitz explains how to license the latest version of the e-mail server software.
Apr. 29, 2010	Office 2010	Michael Cherry looks at improvements in the Office 2010 applications that don't require SharePoint, and highlights the most important deployment issues for the version.
May 27, 2010	The .NET Framework 4	Rob Sanfilippo summarizes the most important new developments in Microsoft's primary application platform.
Jun. 24, 2010	Malicious Software Protection Roadmap	Don Retallack explains Microsoft's strategy for fighting malicious software, and likely future developments.
Jul. 29, 2010	SharePoint Licensing Basics	Rob Horwitz explains SharePoint product licensing for the most common uses.
Aug. 26, 2010	Microsoft Business Overview	Matt Rosoff lays out Microsoft's major business priorities through June 2010.
Sep. 30, 2010	System Center Review	Don Retallack reviews the updated System Center product lineup.
Oct. 28, 2010	Unified Communications Update	Rob Helm explains Microsoft's new lineup for presence, instant messaging, voice, and Web conferencing.
Nov. 18, 2010	Windows Azure Update	Rob Sanfilippo provides an update on the Windows Azure hosting platform as it enters its second year.
Jan. 27, 2011	Management and Security Licensing	Paul DeGroot presents the basics of security and systems management product licensing.
Feb. 24, 2011	Enterprise Software Roadmap 2011	Rob Helm summarizes the most important upcoming releases and retirements of 2011 and what they say about longer-term plans.